An outpouring of concern

The outpouring of concern by citizens of various persuasions over the plan of a Massachusetts-based company to harness the waters of the Rapid River for producing electricity surprised and angered company officials who held an informational meeting in Andover last week to address concerns about the project.

The officials said the citizen concerns were frequently ill-founded. They said much of the press attention was based on misinformation or disinformation.

The officials explained that they did not want too many individual intervenors against their expected permit request to the federal government because it would cause a logistical problem keeping all the intervenors informed.

A Lake Richardson summer resident retorted angrily, "If you're going to take water out of our lake, we have a right to be intervenors."

Water and water rights have seemingly forever played havoc in relations between people and between groups of people. This is not particularly surprising, since it is the presence of water on planet Earth that makes our planet distinctive, that provides the basis of life.

While the company seeking to use the water of the Rapid River for producing electricity still has years of study and permit request hearings to go through, it is not too early to consider some basic questions: •Should the desire for electricity on the part of society take precedence over society's desire for recreation?

•Should the desire of private enterprise for profits take precedence over the desire of private individuals for unspoiled surroundings?

It is possible that all desires can be fulfilled. But this is not likely. And so, a matter that must be considered very closely during the three-year study period granted by the federal government is not just to determine if the project is "doable" but to determine what course of action (including doing nothing) would bring the greatest good to the greatest number of people (and other living creatures). bfw

River would be drastically reduced. One fisherman asked: "How could you run a 17-foot pipe and still have trout in the river?"

Project manager Auth replied: "We don't know what kind of flow needs to be left in the river to accommodate trout. That will be determined by the study."

The canoeists and kayakers, however, want as much water in the river as possible and were unwilling to consider having any of it go through a tunnel.

Mr. Auth admitted that the river would, and should, have priority if there were a conflict between fish and recreation on the one hand and electricity and corporate profits on the other. He said, however, that there seemed to be enough water for both demands during much of the year. In the dry times of the year, flow through the tunnel would be completely curtailed, he promised.

And corporate attorney King said hopefully, "There may be some benefits to evening out the flows in the Rapid River."

James Yarnell, of Upton, pointed out that the average annual flow in the Rapid River was just 800 cubic feet per second. Given the fact that the salmon and trout in the river probably needed between 150 and 300 cubic feet per second of flow, there seemed not nearly enough excess flow from Richardson to Umbagog for the company's needs.

And that was without considering the boaters. The white water canoeists said they liked to have 1,200 cubic feet per second in the river.

At the middle of the discussion was Bill Grove, of Union Water Power Co., which is responsible for regulating the flow from the headwaters of the Androscoggin River to ensure that sufficient water gets to Berlin, N.H. A number of people in the audience argued that Union Water Power would work with Swift River/Hafslund for increased profits at the expense of the environment. Mr. Grove said his company would get no financial inducement for regulating flows by using the projected tunnel instead of using Middle Dam and the Rapid River.

Project manager Auth admitted he had few details on the project until environmental factors and costs were studied. But, he told The Citizen, "In concept, it's doable." He said he put together the federal application in just 48 hours.

What prompted him to apply for the site permit was the fact that there is a 200-foot drop between Richardson Lake and Lake Umbagog along the four-mile journey of the Rapid River. If the force of the water rushing from the upper elevation to the lower can be harnessed, there would be considerable energy for sale.

Harnessing it would not be easy, he pointed out. To make the best use of the downpouring water, a pressurized, closed system was needed between intake and turbine. That meant funneling the water through a pipe, a similar conduit. It would not be possible to place a 17-foot diameter pipe in the river, so the preferred alternative, Mr. Auth said, seemed to be to cut through Corey Ridge, owned by Boise Cascade, and imbed the pipe—three miles of it—in there.

The company officials, undaunted by the chilly reception to their plans, said they would keep everyone informed on the progress of their feasibility studies and would hold additional public informational gatherings as the permit period went on.

BOISE STARTS HIRING

day, spokesman Donaldson indicated that the contract could be changed. "We could supersede it if (the implemented contract) with a (new) signed contract," he said. "There's always room to talk."

Management had sent letters to the strikers last Wednesday informing them that new workers would begin to be hired Monday and if they wanted to keep their jobs they should show up for work Monday morning.

The threat apparently fell on deaf ears. "Just a couple of guys," crossed the picket line, according to spokesman Donaldson.

A striker commented to The Citizen: "Everybody's pretty well standing firm until we hear what's going on in Andover."

Company spokesman Drysdale said the 350 maintenance workers among the strikers could be the first to be replaced. He said the company will simply hire a subcontractor to handle maintenance in the mill.

As for the individual workers being called in, they will be called in department by department, the spokesman said. An announcement on which departments were being staffed with replacements was expected to be made today or tomorrow.

All told, the company received 1,429 job applications as of the end of last week. They were still advertising for workers to apply in Bangor.

THE RAPID RIVER IS A FAVORITE OF WHITE WATER CANOEISTS, as well as fishermen and other recreationalists. They are angry at the thought that water may be diverted from the river in order to be coursed through a tunnel. (Photo by Steve Pohlig)

ABOUT 75 PEOPLE TURNED UP for an informational meeting last Thursday night in Andover to hear officials of the Swift River/Hafslund Co. explain how they planned to go about using the water that normally flows from Richardson Lake to Lake Umbagog to produce electricity. The audience was generally unsympathetic to the idea.

Boise power plant plan suffers setback by PUC

said he would like anyone commenting on the report to focus on the following:

"Are the recommendations consistent with the findings and are the findings consistent with the facts?"

It seemed that they were, as no one at the hearing took issue with the descriptive portion of the plan—nor with the recommendations, for that matter.

Steve Wight, of Newry, an avid canoeist, indicated he thought the plan should have devoted more time to the consideration of the recreational resource of the Androscoggin River. "The Androscoggin River is the prime recreation resource of the area and the town should position itself to take advantage of its growing popularity," he said.

Mr. Wight said he notices more and more people canoeing on the river as the paper mills continue to clean up their discharges into the water, making the river more inviting for recreation.

Mr. Gray pointed out that the plan leaves to the town's Recreation Board the job of determining the town's recreational assets and needs.

A number of people commented on the problem of inadequate signage and improper traffic flows through town, a problem addressed by the plan in its calls for better signs and more use of Lover's Lane to route trucks around the village.

Some people tried to sound out the planners on their views on zoning—an attempt at which was tried and repealed in the 1960s. The planners pointed out that the town still has zoning, in the form of the shoreland zoning ordinance. As for another zoning ordinance to restrict what people can do with other property they own, Chairman Gray pointed out that the Plan suggests the town adopt land use planning. "The word 'zoning' is part of the consideration (under that recommendation)," he said.

A formal recommendation for a particular sort of land use planning will be made before next year's annual town meeting, he said.

The board will consider the comments made at last Wednesday's hearing and come back for another public hearing shortly. Then the selectmen are expected to schedule a special town meeting in September, where voters will be asked to adopt the updated Comprehensive Plan.

On another matter, Chairman Gray noted that two vacancies exist on the Planning Board. Anyone interested in serving on the board should apply to the Board of Selectmen.

V.A. AGENT IN RUMFORD

Howard Elsman of the state Bureau of Veterans Services is in Rumford each Thursday at the Maine Job Service building, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon to assist veterans and their dependents in applying for any V.A. or state veterans' benefits to which they may be entitled.

The company expects to continue its consistent growth pattern next season. A $3 million capital investment in the mountain, including two new triple chairlifts and five new trails opening a fourth peak, will establish Sunday River as the leader in Maine and New Hampshire in respect to uphill lift capacity.

Sunday River announces fiscal year-end profits

The fiscal year ending July 31 was a banner year for Sunday River Skiway Corporation, the parent of Sunday River Ski Resort, in Norway.

The area, established in 1958, is the fastest-growing ski resort in New England. Skier visits in 1985/86 increased 71 percent, with revenues per skier up 12 percent. The company saw a healthy 16 percent increase in ski-related pre-tax profits, and a 12 percent increase in real estate profits.

Les Otten, president of Sunday River, says the company's ability to produce quality snow and maintain consistent skiing conditions were the determining factors in the area's success. The ski area posted its longest season ever last winter, opening Nov. 16, 1985, and closing May 1, 1986, for a total of 167 days.

Snow will again be the major emphasis for 1986/87. The resort is adding 38 acres of snowmaking and increasing its pumping capacity to improve the system's speed and efficiency. With 220 acres of snowmaking coverage, Sunday River has the largest system in Maine or New Hampshire.

The company expects to continue its consistent growth pattern next season. A $3 million capital investment in the mountain, including two new triple chairlifts and five new trails opening a fourth peak, will establish Sunday River as the leader in Maine and New Hampshire in respect to uphill lift capacity.

Sunday River's $8.5 million, 180-unit condominium expansion this summer will bring total accommodations to 2,200 on-mountain beds. Each condominium unit has use of heated indoor or outdoor swimming pools, saunas and jacuzzis.

Since 1981, capital assets of Sunday River Skiway Corp. have increased from $1.7 million to $9.1 million. Skier days have grown from 41,000 to 163,000. Total year-round full-time employment has grown from seven to 142.

For the 1985/86 fiscal year, the president and directors of the corporation had implemented a profit-sharing program for employees. A total of 66 employees shared in the company's success this past year. Said President Otten, "We are a people-oriented, service business. Our personnel were voted friendliest in the east by 'Ski' magazine. What they didn't know is that they are the hardest-working, too."

Lakeshore owners trying to organize association

Owners of lakeshore property in Greenwood and Woodstock are being invited to attend a meeting Saturday morning, Aug. 23, 10 a.m., at the Woodstock town hall, to explore the possibility of forming a lakeshore property owners' association.

The object of the association, the organizers say, would be to help preserve the environment of the local ponds in the face of increasing recreational use.

Winona Chase, of the Norway lakes association, will be on hand to explain what their association does.

The North Pond Sailing Association had one of its best days of the season the last Sunday in July, with a lot of wind and a good turnout. There was also a good turnout at the supper the night before. The winner of the day was Jeff Seaman, of North Pond. The present high-point leaders for the season are Jeff Seaman, Bob Sylvia, Twitchell Pond, and Martha Cross, Dixfield. The race on Aug. 17 will be held at 1 p.m., on Lake Christopher. Because trophies will be awarded for this race there will be a rain date of Aug. 24.

Fifteen people attended the Historical Society, which had to be moved indoors due to the weather. Ellsworth Hathaway presided over the meeting due to the absence of Blaine Mills. The work on the building is on hold while the carpenter is in the hospital. Joanne Davis wrote a newsletter which was sent to all the members. At the next meeting, Sept. 3, Jeannette Kimball will furnish refreshments.

The Fire Department of Greenwood will hold a food sale Saturday, Aug. 16, at Littlefield Beaches. Donations of food would be appreciated and, of course, your patronage would always be welcome. Donations can be left with Denise Swan or any auxiliary member. Proceeds will go to rebuild the depleted fire relief fund.

The Greenwood Fire Dept. will hold a training session Tuesday, Aug. 19, at 6:30 p.m., at the fire station.

The Blueberry Festival, sponsored by the Locke Mills Union Church, will be held Saturday, Aug. 16.

Rev. Bickett was guest minister at the Locke Mills Union Church Sunday, Aug. 10. Silver Learmon has the rest of the month of August for vacation and the pulpit will be filled with guest speakers.

The Ladies Circle meeting is scheduled for Aug. 20, at 1:30 p.m., at the Sunday School room. The ladies have been invited to Andover to meet with their ladies circle and have lunch at noon, with a social gathering afterwards.

Mr. and Mrs. John Mills and Vivian Chase attended the second anniversary celebration of the Praise Assembly of God at the Mexico recreation area Sunday afternoon, Aug. 3. Lorraine Mills made the cake and Frances Davis decorated it, highlighted by a little wooden church borrowed from Leona Flint and greatly appreciated. About 35 members and friends attended the picnic and participated in the afternoon's festivities.

Mr. and Mrs. Elwin Brown, Vera Cross, Gladys Jordan, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bennett and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Dunham attended a Morgan reunion held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Morgan, of Greenwood City, Saturday, Aug. 9. A potluck dinner was enjoyed. Zylpha Emmons and Lena Morgan, of Greenwood, also attended.

"Modern" residence in Scottsdale, Arizona is patterned after a medieval castle. Among the "up-to-date" appointments are 30-foot walls, secret passageways, and a dungeon.

Before finishing wood furniture, fill in the end grain on lumber or plywood. Transparent stain won't take to wood putty or filler, apply veneer edging instead.

Second mortgage is not usually an economical loan for less than $5,000, you can usually get as much as 80 percent of equity.

Buy only as much shellac as you need and use within 6 months or less. It can go bad even if the can isn't opened.

New home design: where land costs are high, architects are creating narrow homes, some only 25 feet wide on 35-foot lots. Well planned, they can seem spacious and comfortable.

Conservation Reserve
program sign-up begins

Oxford County farmers may volunteer highly erodible cropland for entry into the 1987 Conservation Reserve program. The third sign-up period for the new USDA program began Aug. 4 and will end Aug. 15, according to Beverly Stevens, county executive director of the Agricultural Stabilization Conservation Service.

The Conservation Reserve Program encourages farmers to stop growing crops on highly erodible land and plant it to trees through 10-year contracts with the USDA.

For retiring highly erodible cropland from production, farmers will receive conservation payments of up to 50 percent of the eligible cost of establishing trees or grass on the acres placed in the program. They also will receive rental payments of up to $50,000 per year, based on the bid per acres times the number of acres under contract.

Further details may be obtained at the ACS office in South Paris.

John and Lorraine Mills joined Frances and Ken Davis and Deanna and Pastor and Mrs. Lyle Van Horn, Mark, Andrew and Daniel for a picnic at the Davis camp, in Newry, Thursday evening. The rain held off until everyone was on their way home. Then it came in and poured as it had a habit of doing lately. We are not greedy and will be willing to share some of the water with the parched southland. But it doesn't seem to happen.

It is hard to believe how many thunderstorms we've had in the area this week. I don't envy the people that are afraid of them. How many times I've been grateful to my grandmother, Blanche Flint, who taught me to love storms in all their fury. I have a great respect for them but I am not afraid of them.

Mr. and Mrs. Elwin Brown, Vera Cross, Gladys Jordan, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bennett and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Dunham attended a Morgan reunion held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Morgan, of Greenwood City, Saturday, Aug. 9. To enlighten my many friends who read this column, I will present the other side. I am by nature and training so self-controlled that even my mother once remarked that I never get angry! I have the same emotions and feelings as anyone, but I show and express it far less than most.

On that sad Thursday morning my car was coughing and sputtering as it often did after a spell of rain. A mile down the road, I saw the dog in the road, which was common. She loped across the road into her driveway, where she stopped and watched me. As I came abreast the driveway, she rushed, barking and chasing the car as she often did, but this time her timing was off and she ran in front of the car instead of alongside or behind. In the split second, I had only time to gasp and swerve toward the ditch, but could not avoid impact.

I went two-tenths of a mile further to get someone to return with me to tell the owners. My passenger had looked back, saw the dog in the road, and stopped to talk with these folks, but was too shaky to get out, several men drove up, formed a semi-circle around the car door, yelled at me and, among other things, one said several times that he would kill me. When they were done with violent yelling and threatening, they returned to care for the dog. Shortly after this some friends arrived to help and I was able to gain composure enough to continue on my journey within half an hour. I got lots of advice, including taking court action and suing, but I know there's a better way to handle the matter.

Bancroft Company, which is building the hydro plant in Errol, N.H., held a party for employees at Cote's campground. Local attendants included the Mike Bergerons, the Joe Berners, the George Fellows and Horace Goodrum and friend.

I went through Mercer and kept thinking, "Viola, who?"

Arts and artisans fair in Lovell Aug. 16th

The 11th annual Arts and Artisans Fair sponsored by the Charlotte E. Hobbs Memorial Library of Lovell, will take place on Saturday, Aug. 16, on the library lawn on Route 5 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. or in case of rain at the nearby New Suncook School. A widely diversified and talented list of up to 50 exhibitors will participate including many of those most popular over the years with at least 12 new ones of outstanding quality all screened for this year's all-juried fair.

One of the most noteworthy of these must be Andra Bijhouwer whose hand weavings use patterns of her own design. The Smithsonian Institution in Washington, D.C., has purchased one of her coverlets for its own collection. In addition to coverlets of various sizes she offers curtains, place mats and napkins and pillows using her authentic designs.

Other exhibitors will sell baskets, crafted of select Maine ash, birch, and hand-woven and split reed; jewelry of gold, silver, Maine gemstones, enamel, and scrimshaw; metal work in iron and pewter; fine needlework including handmade and quilted clothing, handpainted skirts, wall quilts, folk dolls, stuffed animals and dolls, and miniature carefully handmade popular "Critters"; paintings and prints; paper goods; note papers handpainted or embossed, and paper cuttings; photography, various types of pottery, stained glass including lamps with bases and lamps with stem-cilled, pierced and cut shades; fine woodwork, custom furniture and restorations, and wood carvings, signs, boxes, frames and decoys; decorative relief carving and carved cypress knees. Other decorative arts offered are everlasting and herb items in great variety, wooden country crafts and folk art.

The annual used library book sale will continue throughout the day, and light lunch and beverages will be available. A display of early area items will be shown by the Lovell Historical Society. Sixteen items from selected exhibitors will be awarded to lucky ticket-holders during the day. Tickets for the drawings are already available at many area locations including the library and from members of the Woman's Library Club of Lovell, and will be sold during the fair.

Mrs. Sally Brindle of Center Lovell chairs the large committee of both year-round and summer residents who are working together on this community-wide effort for the benefit of the Lovell Library.

Andover East Andover

By LAURA HUTCHINS

As I sit here getting my news column organized, a mesmerizing rain is drumming on the roof.

I was happy to receive a letter from Mrs. Richard (Norma) Plantier last Saturday. When Mr. Plantier left for Maryland, I had reported that Norma and the children would be leaving after school closed. At the time of their move I neglected to put it in my column, Norma, accompanied by her son, Troy, who had been home on leave from the U.S. Army for two weeks, her daughter Lynne and son Michael, left East Andover on July 9 and arrived at their new home in Mt. Airy, Md., on July 11. Troy was able to extend his leave and spent an additional week with his family in Maryland before returning to his base in Colorado. Mr. and Mrs. Norman White, Andover, Mrs. Plantier parents, accompanied by her sister, Sandy Dolano, and her two daughters, Kim and Kris of East Andover, enjoyed a visit with the Plantier family at their new home the weekend of July 18. Norma reports that they are pretty well settled in. The children have made new friends; their new home is in farm country, is quieter than Main Street in Andover (!) and so far they like it very much. You are all greatly missed. (Norma says they get The Citizen and keep in touch through the news.)

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Jones, daughters, Shannon and Calley Ann, accompanied by friends, Michelle, Ryan and Jennifer Gurney, all of Gray, arrived at his parents', Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Jones in East Andover on Friday, Aug. 1. They enjoyed the Olde Home Day activities on Saturday. On Sunday they went blueberry picking on White Cap Mountain. They returned home on Monday.

Mrs. Laura Plawlock and children Joshua and Sara, of Bethel, who had been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Jones, for a few days returned home on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Ramey, of Rumford Center, visited Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Jones Wednesday evening.

Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Hutchins were brother Russell Yates, sister Viva Whitman, both of West Paris; and brother Tom Yates, from Golden, Col., who is in Maine visiting relatives and friends for a few weeks. Mr. and Mrs. Gregory Adams, Robbie and Karen, of Sweden, also joined us for a cookout/picnic and a good visit.

Howard "Buster" Marston, of Andover, returned home from recent surgery at Maine Medical Center on Monday, Aug. 4, and is reported to be doing very well. So glad to hear it.

The Ladies Aid Society members met at the C.E.B. on Tuesday, Aug. 5. It was reported a very successful sale was realized from Saturday's activities. A lady from Massachusetts received the beautiful dollhouse built by Bill Crooker and Phyllis Spaulding. A big thank you to all who were willing to dedicate their time and talents in making this sale a success. The next Ladies Aid meeting will be Aug. 19, which will be Fellowship Day, with ladies' groups of other churches invited.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hutchins, Jennifer and Justin, recently enjoyed a few days of vacation to Quebec City and surrounding areas in Canada.

Miss Rebecca Gwen Hutchins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Hutchins, has returned home after a few weeks' visit with her aunt and family, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Merrill, in Alaska.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hodgkins, Adrienne and Joshua, of Norway, visited with Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Hutchins on Monday. I was in Rumford on business Tuesday morning. I had an appointment in Bethel in the afternoon, so went early and visited my daughter, Lorene Cobb, and children in Bryant Pond. After my appointment, I drove up the Sunday River road to the Bryce Yates residence, but found no one home. I enjoyed seeing the llamas in the pastures before I got to Bryce's place. They are an interesting animal and the variety of colors is amazing.

Miss Jennifer Hutchins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hutchins, left Wednesday, Aug. 6, from the Portland Jetport to fly to West Palm Beach, Fla., to visit her aunt, Mrs. John (Gloria) Donahue. They will leave Florida for Maine on Sunday, where Gloria will be visiting relatives and friends for a few days.

Many from the Andover-East Andover area have been blueberrying on White Cap. Bernard mentioned to my brother, Tom on Sunday that he planned to go this week. Tom thought he'd like to join him, so the date was set for Wednesday, Aug. 6: 15 of my brothers, Tom and Lawrence Yates, arrived, and as the three were about to leave, I decided to go, too, along with our poodle, Gigi. We left the vehicles and started the hike at 6:30. I was about nine years old the only time I had been on White Cap before. At that time, Lawrence had been a Model A Ford coupe with a rumble seat, that we came up in from Bryant Pond, then crossed on the ferry at Rumford Point. As we sat here at the kitchen table getting our second wind and a refreshing drink of lemonade, after our return yesterday, we concluded the trail was no easier to climb and none of us were as young as we used to be! But we had done it one more time and there is nothing like White Cap blueberries! Thanks to Sylvanus Glover for the lift, just when we thought we couldn't go many more steps. Today Gigi has slept most of the day after her mountain climb and the steady drizzle makes me feel like joining her. I seem to have muscles that are telling me they were overworked yesterday. Despite that fact, I'd probably go again if the opportunity should arise. It's beautiful up there. I hope everyone enjoys a good week.

NEW SHOP IN TOWN: Fran 'n Shannan's Variety store, on Main Street, Bethel, had its open house last Saturday. The store has everything from boots to children's clothing, to knitting goods to crafts. And Shannan and Fran Tyler plan to expand the inventory to meet customer needs.

OXFORD POMONA GRANGE

Oxford Pomona met with Bear River Grange for Past Masters night at Bear River Grange on Aug. 5. The officers were: M., Robert Lewis; O., Chester Hayes; S., Wyman Lord; L., Fred Judkins; A.S., Francis Conant; L.A.S., Hazel Conant; Chap., Glenn Chute; Sec., Gail Butterfield; Treas., Lewis Marcotte; G.K., Lewis Woodworth; Ruth Lord as Pomona; Flora, Betty Lewis; Ceres, Margery Coleman; Ex. Com., Adelaide Rhode, Ronald Coleman, Ernest Holt; CWA, Alma Abbott, Olive Davis, Lettie Brooks, Kitty Davis.

Bear River members put on a supper before the meeting. There were about 55 members present. Our honored guest was the State Master and his wife, Curtis and Marie Lombard.

An invitation to the reception of Anna Henderson and Lewis Woodworth on Aug. 30 was extended to the Grange members.

Two sick members were sent cards signed by the group.

The resolution committee, Lettie Brooks, Ronald Coleman and Francis Allen reported favorably on this article presented at this meeting. More will be heard on this later.

The program was opened by singing "We Are Here For Fun" and the Maine song, Lewis Woodworth "Old Virginian" and "I Want a Girl". Then two young girls discussed their love in a skit. Alma Abbott and Olive Davis were the young girls. Franklin Grange Orchestra then played some snappy numbers, which made people's feet dying to dance.

Pete Matthews, golf pro at The Bethel Inn, set a new course record of 68 on Sunday, Aug. 10.

PANCAKE BREAKFAST

There will be a pancake breakfast at the East Stoneham Church next Saturday, Aug. 23, 7-11 a.m. Eggs, sausage, juice, coffee—and pancakes—will be served.

A stunt: walking on two sheets of paper. The two couples were Mr. and Mrs. Conant and Mr. Randy and Mrs. Jack.

The men placed the paper for each step and the ladies stepped on it as placed. "Million Member Grange" by several members was read. "The More We Get Together" was sung. "Pa Joining the Grange" by Anna Henderson. Dot Canwell favored us with a whistling number; Richard Felt, Johnny Howe and Dot Canwell playing their accordions entertained. Ernest Holt, the oldest Past Master was called upon and spoke a few words for the Masters.

Our honored guests, State Master Curtis Lombard and Marie Lombard, were called upon and they spoke to the Grange.

The closing thought was read and "Good Night Grangers" sung.

The September meeting will be held at Pleasant Pond and the installation of officers will be the agenda of the evening.

Heavy thunderstorm at supper time Wednesday and much rain. The power was off Tuesday morning at 1:30 and again at breakfast time. They found a cracked insulator near David Broberg's barn.

Assessors for the town of West Paris have been in our little hamlet this week.

A crane with a long beak and long slender legs was at the edge of Joe Vatcher's garden Thursday only six feet from the dog kennel with three dogs and did they bark! When we came home from the hospital it had moved beyond the woodpile and didn't seem to be afraid. It was still here Friday morning.

Corneleus McAuliffe Sr., Fort Devens, Mass., visited his sons, Corneleus Jr. and Daniel at the home of their mother Rhoda Labbe.

Joe Vatcher and nephew Corneleus McAuliffe went to Danvers, Mass., and got Mrs. Fannie Vatcher and they attended the Vatcher reunion at a state park in Andover, Mass., Saturday, Aug. 9.

Notes from Adult & Community Education

SAD #44 Adult and Community Education, in cooperation with the Bethel/NTL Liaison Committee, sponsored a Community Future Workshop last Friday, Aug. 8, at Crescent Park School.

Attended by 30 residents from the towns of Bethel, Newry, Greenwood and Woodstock, the workshop was led by Ron Lippett and Paula Lugianni, of NTL, assisted by members of their Future Lab.

The workshop demonstrated a process by which data may be obtained regarding community attitudes, how priorities may be determined, and possible follow-ups for community actions. Data from the Aug. 8 lab was recorded and will be the subject of a future column.

A number of volunteers signed up to be part of a steering committee to plan follow-up activities. Anyone who missed the Aug. 8 meeting but who would like to be part of an ongoing future project may contact the Adult and Community Education office, at 824-2780.

Cathy Newell attended the Adult and Community Education Directors' Academy last Wednesday and Thursday at Sugarloaf. She attended a management seminar led by Dodd-Blair Associates of Rangeley, a session on Project Literacy US, and a session on re-certification course offerings for real estate professionals, as well as receiving current information from the Division of Adult and Community Education on state subsidy, staffing, and Bureau of Vocational Education re-organization.

There will be a weekend workshop on Women and Conflict on Aug. 22-23, with Edith Seashore and Jane Moosebrucker as facilitators. This is a special opportunity for area women to participate in a learning experience of exceptional quality. Lunch on Saturday and childcare are included in the registration fee.

Pre-registration is required and may be done by calling Adult and Community Education, at 824-2780, or Cathy Newell at home, 824-2089.

MIKENAS - SMITH ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mikenas, of Amsterdam, N.Y., announce the engagement of their daughter, Elizabeth J. Mikenas, to Jonathan Burr Smith, son of Allan H. Weeks, chief of the Maine State Police.

Weeks said the .02 percent blood-alcohol level may be arrived at if within one hour a person, depending upon weight, has one 12-ounce beer.

If a law enforcement officer has probable cause a person under the age of 21 has been driving or has attempted to operate a motor vehicle while having a .02 percent or more of alcohol in his/her blood, the law requires the person to take a blood/breath test to determine alcohol content in his blood. If the test shows a .02 percent or higher or if the person refuses the test, that information is provided to the Secretary of State who will immediately administratively suspend the person's operator's (driver's) license for one year.

If a person's blood test is .10 or higher, then the individual will be summoned or arrested for a normal O-U offense resulting in criminal charges, Weeks said.

Maine law prohibits a person under the age of 21 from buying or drinking beer, wine or liquor.

Walking With Jesus Christ

The Lewiston Daily Sun, Aug. 9, had a good article regarding salt (sodium) and its relationship to high blood pressure—hypertension. It says "Who's watching my salt?" Children who never see a salt shaker on the table learn the flavor of foods as they are meant to be." "Most of us started on a high salt diet as young children even in infancy."

Now who does this have to do with our spiritual life? A parable perhaps.

Well, the Holy Bible, God's Word, tells us many things, for example Proverbs 22:6 "Train up a child in the way he should go . . . 2 Timothy 3:15 "To make the wise unto salvation through faith which is in Jesus Christ."

While salt intake for us is a very real problem—the greater yet is our failure to teach our children things that would lead to a wholesome, happy and meaningful life. Jesus himself said "Permit little children, and forbid them not, to come unto me, for of such is the kingdom of heaven." Matthew 19:14.

So, it is early in life that we should be teaching our children of God's things, as the saying goes "Happy the home where God is there."

Children are now entering a world full of evil temptations. Everywhere we hear and see the clutter of troubles—our radios and televisions bring false claims of happiness and sensual-wole. While our newspapers bring the world's news and some good articles they generally maintain a hands-off attitude of the Bible.

Once there was Bible reading in our public schools—no more—the relentless pressures of Godless people have cen-tained a hands-off attitude of the Bible.
